

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Contact: Chef Joceln Wood
jmwood@walnuthillcollege.edu
office line: 267-295-2367

Contact: Harris Eckstut
harris@eckstutconsulting.com
C-267.474.8101

September 14, 2009

So You Want to Own a Restaurant? THE DOLLARS & SENSE OF OWNING A RESTAURANT

PHILADELPHIA - Owning of restaurant is a romantic notion shared by many would-be entrepreneurs. A new seminar by Harris Eckstut -- "The Dollars and Sense of Owning a Restaurant" -- injects a much-needed dose of realism into the fantasy for individuals who dream of one day becoming a restaurateur, as well as for those interested in investing in one.

- more -

“The Dollars and Sense of Owning a Restaurant” will be held Tuesday, October 6 and 13, from 6 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. at The Restaurant School at Walnut Hill College, 4207 Walnut Street, Philadelphia. Tuition is $75.

To register go to

http://www.therestaurantschool.com/commun\_educ.asp

In this seminar, Harris Eckstut shares his extraordinary knowledge from over twenty years as a successful Philadelphia restaurant owner – insights that can only come from long-term accomplishment and commitment. Eckstut, as the principal at ECKSTUT RESTAURANT CONSULTING www.eckstutconsulting.com, educates business owners on leasing and development, operational analysis and planning, restaurant turnarounds, and business plans for the independent or prospective restaurant owner throughout the East Coast. He also evaluates business plans, operations and budgets for banks, attorneys, investors, developers, and community organizations. Harris owned the legendary MontSerrat Restaurant on South Street for 20 years and has over 30 years experience in the independent restaurant industry.

###